

The Role of an Army Medicine Ambassador

An Ambassador is:

Someone with a positive outlook, strong communication skills, a willingness to engage with audiences of all sizes, the ability to stay on topic, and who believes in the Army Medicine mission.

An Ambassador is not:

Someone who creates Army Medicine policies or procedures, creates their own messaging, or is not committed to being part of a service that provides the best possible service to America's Soldiers.